Are you taking The Real TRIBULUS?

Not all Tribulus Terrestris are the same, even if the label says Bulgarian. Nearly all the products claiming to have real Bulgarian Tribulus, source materials from China or India. China and India do not have the method to extract for (protodioscin), the active ingredient contained in our product.

We source our materials directly from Bulgaria, from the only supplier in the world with real actives. Bulgarian Tribulus Terrestris differs significantly from the Tribulus Terrestris extracts from China and India. Using a special method of harvesting and pharmaceutical technique, the Bulgarian Tribulus Terrestris has a very high concentration of saponins unlike the ineffective Indian and Chinese Tribulus Terrestris.

The Chinese and Indian Tribulus Terrestris are made from a different part of the plant. They are harvested at a different times of the year. The photochemistry of the Chinese and Indian Tribulus Terrestris are considerably different from that of the Bulgarian Tribulus Terrestris.

Ecdysterone or beta-ecdysterone, until recently, was neither legal nor commercially available. Recently, ecdysterone was found to occur naturally in plants (e.g., Leuzeae Carthamoides). Ecdysterone studies in Eastern Europe and Russia found that ecdysterone possessed a wide spectrum of anabolic effects on skeletal muscle. Biochemists have classified ecdysterone as biologically-active phytoecdysteroid substance which can exert anabolic actions in the body.

Ajuga turkestanica is a plant from Central Asia containing phytoecdysteroids, which include alpha-ecdysone, 2-desoxyecdysterone, ecdysterone, sileneoside A, and turkesterone. This has reportedly been used by Soviet athletes for anabolic purposes. Ajuga turkestanica can improve athletic performance, increase muscle strength and endurance, help maintain muscle mass and build muscle and other tissues.
